

stakki

The iconic chair that fits everywhere (else).

V/S

Fits wherever you need it.

A utility player. An easy button.

A chair that looks and works great in cafeterias,
media centers, breakout spaces, around work tables,
and especially well in tight quarters.

It's the iconic chair that fits everywhere (else).

An idea worth exploring.

There's nothing like having one elegant idea that covers all kinds of needs. A solution that uses space more efficiently and serves multiple purposes. Have a look at Stakki, the new chair that works where and when you need it.

A refreshingly modern, shape that says to busy bodies, ‘hey, feel free to move around.’

Stakki’s graphic shape and triangular form have you at the bell. And what better way to engage curious minds even before they take their seat?

It’s a chair that delivers on agility, allowing students the freedom to shift, squirm and reset comfortably in a variety of positions – front, side saddle, and even reverse.

How stable is a three-legged chair, you might wonder? Give it a quick sit and you’ll have your answer – very stable.

Upwardly mobile.

Under 9 pounds, Stakki is easy to move, stacks up to 10 high, and its triangular form allows for space-efficient storage.

Stakki's concave legs and stepped glides enable the chairs to nest in place securely. This design feature also protects Stakki's seat surface when stacked.

Play it by ear.

Flexible. Spontaneous. Improvisational.
That's the beat of learning spaces today.
Stakki's versatility and economy makes it an easy choice for music rooms, media centers, and everywhere (else).

When it comes to collaborating, Stakki's a team player, while also making its own modern statement.

Even a tiny round table can be a forum for big ideas. Stakki fits around like pizza wedges. And although its three-legged footprint is small, it offers sturdy back support and comfort in a variety of seating positions.

Where else does Stakki fit? Everywhere (else) really. And by that we mean it works wherever you see the need. Media centers, learning spaces, cafeterias, break rooms, and even school offices as guest chairs.

Clever choice all the way around.

Environmentally speaking, Stakki is a thoughtful solution too. As a single part with no mixture of materials, it recycles easily. In fact, our production surpluses go right back around into new chairs.

And by the way, Stakki is also UV-rated and designed to withstand the elements, so feel free to take it outdoors.
